

GRADUATE FUNDING

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. How many funding appointments are offered to incoming students each year?

The number varies depending on the needs and resources of faculty in each area. To see the most recent distribution of funding appointments among incoming School of Music students, please consult the Graduate Application Statistics from 2015, which are available on our Graduate Admissions page.

2. How can I increase my chances of being offered a funding appointment?

Start a relationship with your preferred faculty member(s). Send an email to introduce yourself and explain your interest in UW-Madison. Set up a meeting and/or sample lesson, and inquire about funding opportunities in the area. In your Statement of Purpose, express your desire for funding and describe your qualifications. Most importantly, have a stellar application and, if applicable, play an excellent audition.

3. If I am offered funding, am I guaranteed funding in the future?

MOST funding appointments come with multi-year guarantees (2 years for a Master's degree, 3-5 years for a Doctoral degree). You may be offered a multi-year guarantee composed of varying appointments (TA, PA, Fellow) and you should be aware that stipends and duties vary greatly among the three. SOME incoming students are offered 1-year appointments with NO guarantee of future funding, depending on the needs and resources of faculty in each area.

4. If I am NOT offered funding as an incoming student, will I be eligible next year?

Yes, all current students are eligible for funding as long as they are enrolled in graduate-level courses and are in good academic standing. Funding appointments are generally offered to incoming students, but, depending on the pool of applicants and the unique needs of the area, you may be offered funding for your second or third year.

5. What resources are there for incoming students who are not offered funding?

The Grants Information Collection contains several databases where you can search for scholarships and other support: grants.library.wisc.edu You can also look for campus-area work in the Student Job Center: jobcenter.wisc.edu
